JUGO-SLAVS THREATEN TO DECLARE WAR ON ITALY

PRESIDENT MAY BE ASKED FOR SOLUTION

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Closing of industrial manufacturing plants in the northwest, with others placed on a "war" basis, which have been working since the strike of bituminous coal miners, were in prospect today. A ray of hope, the first tangible one to penetrate the gloom of the steadily growing shortage of a coal shortage since the strike, was the possibility of a settlement of the entire strike question by President Wilson's cabinet, with possible reference to the chief executive of the United States.

From one of the great production plants came an indication today that the miners had altered their disposition to wait an agreement by the representatives conference at Washington.

In Wyoming and Oklahoma, there is a prospect of production being resumed and in West Virginia, where a great quantity of fuel has been brought out since the strike started, the troops were ready to curb radicals who threatened to shoot miners returning to work, and it was expected that the 10 percent loss production reported yesterday would soon be restored.

The Wyoming miners were to return today, after a one-day strike, and in Oklahoma Governor Robertson predicted resuming operations would be started again on the state prison farm either today or tomorrow.

Indiana factories and public utilities were operated on a greatly reduced basis, steps to conserve the short coal supply being more drastic than in the Chicago district, where many plants have closed.

A wave of crime that followed cutting off of street illumination in Chicago caused revocation of that order. Enough fuel for 25 days, it used only for necessities, remains in Chicago, it was stated. In the Pittsburgh district, also, distribution of coal was on a limited basis.

An alleged shortage at the mines in West Virginia and Kentucky of a sufficient number of cars to remove the fuel being brought out there, or which could be mined was said by L. H. Jewett and other operators to be hampering their efforts to supply the rest of the country.

WELL, THEY'VE GOT A LOT O' COMPANY

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 25.—Carnegie institute of technology professors are so poorly paid that some of them are unable to have cars for breakfast, and at least one of them is unable to buy himself a fully needed pair of shoes. These statements are said to have been made yesterday at a meeting of the general faculty and made public today, when resolutions asking the trustees to revise the salary schedule were sent to the trustees.

In commemoration of his visit to the United States the Prince of Wales was presented with a gold medal by the American Numismatic Society just before his departure for home. The medal, shown above, was designed by John Flanagan, New York sculptor.

NO DECISION ON MEXICO BY CABINET

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—The cabinet reached no decision today on the Mexican situation, according to Secretary Lansing, who presided at the regular weekly meeting. Both the case of William O. Jenkins, American consul general at Puebla, and general conditions in the southern republic were discussed, Mr. Lansing said, but the cabinet had before it no more information than was available to the state department yesterday.

ALLIES WARN GERMANY ON DELAY

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Surprise at the departure of Dr. Simon, head of the plenipotentiaries sent by Germany to this city in connection with the armistice, was expressed in a note delivered to Kurt Von Lersner, head of the German delegation, Versailles by the supreme council last night.

If the treaty of Versailles is not put into force by December 1, the note said, the responsibility will be with the German government. As the departure of Dr. Simon inevitably delays further conferences, which must be held, Dr. von Lersner is asked to state what are the intentions of the German government.

It was learned today that Von Lersner sent a letter to Secretary Hughes of the peace conference, last Friday, to the effect that the head of the plenipotentiaries had become convinced, after the consultations he had had in Paris, that he must consult the German government regarding the proposed, especially as the national assembly would have to approve the decisions reached.

The Von Lersner letter protested against the question of the repatriation of prisoners being held up with that of putting the treaty into effect. It being pointed out that the allied governments had previously separated these issues. If the promise of France was not kept, the letter declared, German public opinion would not have confidence in any further promise. France might make. The letter in this connection drew attention to articles published recently in the Press de Paris on the surrender of war criminals.

President Clemenceau as president of the peace conference replied on Saturday that Von Lersner's letter made him question if the treaty could be put into force on December 1, owing to the German government's action, although that government had known the contents of the proposed treaty since November 1.

The delay, said Mr. Clemenceau, would be regrettable, as it might raise doubts of the sincerity of Germany's intentions regarding the execution of the engagements made in the armistice and the peace treaty.

ISOBEL ISN'T THE LEAST BIT AFRAID OF THE STEEP CLIFF AND OCEAN BELOW

Trick snapshot of Miss Isobel Elsom.

This photograph of Miss Isobel Elsom, a popular London footlight favorite, apparently shows her poised dangerously near a steep cliff overlooking a chasm and the cold, forbidding sea. But hold those gasps. Isobel isn't anywhere near a cliff, a castle or the sad sea waves. The photo is an example of the effects that can be obtained by the Edwin Mearns method of indoor photography by which you can be photographed anywhere you wish.

POET AVIATOR'S ADVANCES BRING CRISIS IN THE ADRIATIC SITUATION

GENEVA, Monday, Nov. 24.—Telegrams received by the Serbian bureau at Bern from Belgrade, Zadar and Spalato convey the impression that only prompt interference by the allies can prevent war over the Adriatic situation as the Jugos-Slavs are said to have lost patience and to be ready to fight the Italians.

"We are astonished that the peace conference permits our people to endure constant Italian persecutions," says one Belgrade paper, received here. "Our peaceful attitude is probably what we mean throw D'Annunzio and his henchmen into the sea."

Another newspaper accuses Italy of desiring to blockade Jugos-Slavia's exports and imports and thus "strangle her."

A third repeats recent reports that a relay of terror prevails in Zara, that everybody must wear a brass card inscribed "Italy or Death," or be badly treated and the Slavs are afraid to leave their houses.

PARIS, Monday, Nov. 24.—Dispatches confirming reports from Geneva that the situation along the eastern shore of the Adriatic is critical are issued by the Jugos-Slav bureau here. The bureau says the Jugos-Slav government has asked its ministers at Paris, London and Washington to draw the attention of these governments to the dangerous situation arising from D'Annunzio's raids and those to be reported about to make.

AMERICAN WARSHIPS THERE
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—No new instructions have been sent to Rear Admiral Anson at Spalato regarding the attitude he is to take in the event of an effort by the D'Annunzio forces to expand their control over Dalmatian territory, Secretary Daniels said today.

Under Secretary Frank L. Bolk, of the state department, head of the American peace delegation at Paris, conferred yesterday in London with Rear Admiral Knapp, commanding all American naval forces in the Adriatic, regarding the situation on the eastern shore of the Adriatic, where Admiral Andrews commands American ships assigned to the patrol of a part of the Dalmatian coast under an agreement reached in Paris.

Reports that D'Annunzio's coast-guarded a raid on Spalato, the American naval base, led to the London conference, but Mr. Daniels believed that the critical on the spot had not recommended any action in anticipation of such a raid.

Admiral Andrews has a fleet of 12 craft with a total personnel of 1,450 officers and men. His flagship is the second class cruiser Galveston, and in the fleet are the gun boat Sacramento, eight destroyers and two submarine chasers.

ALLIES SEEK TO DEFER INTEREST PAYMENTS ON LOANS FROM AMERICA

LONDON, Nov. 25.—A plan is under discussion by the British and American governments, under which the payment of interest on advances by Great Britain and the United States to the allies in the course of the war and also advances by the United States to Great Britain would be postponed for one year, it was announced in the case of common today by Austen Chamberlain, the chancellor of the exchequer.

BARE PLOT TO OVERTHROW THE GREEK REGIME

ATHENS, Monday, Nov. 25.—Plotters arrested following discovery of a conspiracy to assassinate Premier Venizelos, overthrow the present regime and reestablish King Constantine on the throne have made full confessions, according to the authorities. They were said to be former officers under King Constantine. They will be tried before court martial.

Bishop Presides At Conference Of Theatrical Folks

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The bishop of London, who says he enjoys a good play as much as anybody, presided at a conference the other day of representatives of theatrical managers, authors, actors and critics. It was held at the invitation of the London council for the promotion of public morality to consider the best means of preventing improper public performances.

The bishop said the council was not in the slightest degree opposed to theatres or music halls. The people need entertainment and a good laugh was good for everybody.

"But what we will not tolerate," he added, "is the film. We are not going to have people go to theatres to hear things which will degrade them. The Christian people of London intend to put a stop to that sort of thing."

GERMAN TROOPS HARD PRESSED

BERLIN, Monday, Nov. 25.—German troops in the Baltic region are in a desperate situation, according to reports played in the Tass wire. The reports, including several false ones, have called south of Mian and have been attacked by Lithuanian troops. The German army, it is said, is being driven back in an attempt to seize the railroad running from Mian to Slavia. The troops are said to be carrying off prisoners from Mian have been driven upon by Lithuanians. It is said 20 prisoners have been killed and 100 wounded. Efforts are being made to stop the railroad and to prevent the Lithuanians from capturing it.

MASS BACK IN HOMES

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The mass of people who have been driven from their homes in the city of New York, after the fire, are beginning to return to their homes. The city officials are said to be very busy with the problem of the homeless people.

Anti-Trial Strike By Radicals

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—An anti-trial "strike" called by 66 alleged radical aliens awaiting deportation hearings at Ellis Island still was in force this morning, according to officials of the prison, and it was impossible to predict when the trials could be resumed. Byron H. Uhl, acting commissioner of immigration said he had discovered no method whereby he could identify the prisoners scheduled for hearing.

While a congressional committee investigating the department of labor was attending the hearings yesterday, sudden adjournment was taken when one of the strikers, sent to bring a prisoner from the enclosure, returned with the statement that the man would not answer his name and no one could identify him. The attorney representing the defendants was appealed to, but said he could be of no aid as he did not know his clients "by their faces."

The strikers sent Mr. Uhl an ultimatum saying that they would not answer to their names or attend trial until a wire screen behind which they were compelled to stand while receiving friends had been removed.

LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL SESSION

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 25.—An extraordinary session of the North Dakota legislature will convene at noon today with ratification of the woman suffrage amendment to the federal constitution as the first business to be taken up. Other matters to come before the legislature will include, it is said, a request from the faculty of the state university for an increase in salaries.

MAYOR OF CANTON IS SEEKING TO BE REINSTATED

COLUMBIA, O., Nov. 25.—Charles E. Peckham, mayor of Canton, Ohio who was suspended by Governor Cox, October 27 for alleged failure to preserve order in connection with the steel strike in that city, today appeared before the governor seeking reinstatement.

He was represented by Attorney Frank H. Switzer, who presented affidavits and letters from prominent Canton business men urging the reinstatement of Mayor Peckham. Among such letters was one from Acting Mayor Henry A. Schmidt, who was placed in charge by Governor Cox when Peckham was suspended. Schmidt said that under new prevail in Canton and that he had given up his business at sacrifice and desired to be relieved of the office.

Governor Cox ordered that Mayor Peckham be given a formal hearing and called upon the attorney general's office to examine him in a formal manner. E. E. Cox, special counsel to the attorney general's office, conducted the examination on the part of the state and Peckham was cross examined by Attorney Switzer. His counsel, who lodged to the formal hearing.

CHIEFS VOTE TO CONTINUE STEEL STRIKE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 25.—The national committee in charge of the steel strike, meeting at Pittsburgh yesterday, voted unanimously to continue the strike, it was announced here today by S. T. Hammersmark, secretary in charge of local strike headquarters.

MUTILATED BY NEGRO WITH A HEAVY HAMMER

HAMILTON, O., Nov. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Jones and their child, who are in Mercy Hospital, severely mutilated as the result of an assault by a negro, were taken to the hospital today. The family home last Monday night. At the time, the wife was washing clothes and a little daughter, three years old, was in the room. The negro, who was a stranger, entered the room and attacked the family. The wife was struck on the head with a heavy hammer and the child was injured. The negro was seen running away from the house.

RETRIBUTION FROM 'MAGNATES'

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The strike competition were still running from their "magnates" this morning. The end for the day being about 100,000 men, it was learned that the strike was being maintained. The strikers are said to be very determined to win their fight.

SARAGOSSA, SPAIN, Monday, Nov. 24.—Martial law has been declared in Saragoissa, Spain, because of a general strike. The strikers and other trouble makers have been suspended. The strike was called by the government against the deportation of the strikers.

TOLEDO STILL WALKS OR RIDES IN COLD BUSES

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 25.—Toledo today started its seventeenth day of walking or riding in unheated buses at 10 cents a ride. Its steel cars are parked among the trees of Lake Erie and there is nothing to indicate when they will return. Henry L. Doherty, New York, traction magnate, ordered them hauled out of the state of Ohio at midnight November 5, four days after the voters had approved a referendum ordinance passed several months previously by city council and put on the ballot. In the form of a referendum.

Mayor Cornell Schreiber is pleading with United States district court to force the immediate return of vehicles, but Mr. Doherty has said he will go to the highest court in the land before abiding by any such order.

The district court hearing is set for tomorrow morning, when Mayor Schreiber will argue that the company violated a state public utilities law by not notifying the commission of its intention of withdrawal. Traction officials will contend they had no rights on the streets after the order had been approved.

AMERICAN INTERVIEWS ITALIANS

ROME, Monday, Nov. 24.—Peter A. Jay, American charge d'affaires, had a long interview with Premier Nitti today. Neither the premier nor the American charge d'affaires made any statement relative to the subjects discussed, but it was indicated that Mr. Jay received a favorable impression from the entire Italian Nitti gave of the Italian situation. After his talk with Mr. Jay, the premier had a long conference with King Victor Emmanuel.

The election was said to be a victory for the dissonant and political settlement and it now appears as if the election will be an unqualified success. PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT UP TO THE LOCAL OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—Enforcement of constitutional prohibition will be placed squarely up to state and municipal authorities and the federal government machinery will not intervene unless obvious inefficiency on the part of local officials makes such action necessary, the board of temperance of the Methodist Episcopal church was told here today by John F. Kramer, federal prohibition commissioner. It was Mr. Kramer's first pronouncement of policy since he assumed office a week ago.

"Hereafter, the line of demarcation has been between those who invest the prohibition of the liquor traffic and those who opposed it," he said. "From now on, the line of demarcation will be between those who are in favor of closing the law whether their personal views are in harmony with the law or not, and those who will be ready and anxious to violate the law."

Describing the machinery being set up for the enforcement of prohibition laws, Mr. Kramer said the first step would be with the various state inspectors.

"They will keep themselves informed as to conditions in their states," he said, "and will report to the state federal director, who will investigate and report to the district federal agent, who will use his forces to investigate and arrest if evidence warrants. One of the chief duties of the state federal director will be to enlist the aid of all state officers. He will also endeavor to secure the backing and support of all civic, moral and religious bodies."

Miss Josephine Clark, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clark of Soloto Trail, and Capt. Eugene Brine of Boston, Mass., were united in marriage, with a quiet ceremony, at ten o'clock this morning at the Officers' Club at Camp Sherman.

The bride was quite attractive in a beautifully modeled tulle of brown velvet with soft-skin trimmings and other accessories, complete with a bouquet of Aaron Ward roses. Miss Dragan were a handsome frock of black velvet, her own bouquet of American Beauties making a striking contrast.

Immediately after the ceremony, Capt. and Mrs. Brine, Miss Dragan and Capt. Brine drove to Columbus for dinner at the Deschler, after which the bride and groom left for an Eastern trip, during which they will spend Thanksgiving with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Brine, at Boston, Mass. They will also visit in New York and Washington before returning to reside in Chillicothe while Capt. Brine is in service.

The bride is one of the most beautiful and best beloved young women in this city, enjoying a wide circle of friends.

Among those who attended the wedding were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clark, Miss Jean Clark and Earl Clark, Jr.

Miss Helen Cramer and Louise Kuhn of Cincinnati will arrive Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with Miss Cramer's grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Molster, of 1412 Second street. Miss Cramer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cramer (Nell Molster), former residents of this city and well known here.

Miss Lena Hauck of Offshore street, returned home last night after a week end visit in Columbus.

On Thanksgiving Day Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Cunningham will entertain at dinner Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Graham, Miss Lucille Graham, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sears and niece, Miss Pauline Gillespie of McConnellsville, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McFarland, Miss Carol Simmons, Miss Violet Cunningham and Richard Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Head of Greenfield will come Wednesday to be present at the family dinner on Thanksgiving Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hiltchcock on Waller street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hauck of Offshore street are making a brief visit in Cincinnati.

Meet me at Nye's Fountain. 12-14

Members Please Take Notice—There will be no special meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star tonight. It has been postponed indefinitely.

The Women's Literary Club will entertain guests for a musical evening on Friday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. J. Kline on Fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Orla Case recently entertained a number of young folks at their home on Second street, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Everett Burton (Harold Case) a bride and groom of recent date. The evening was spent with music and playing cards. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Wm. Ashlin and Mrs. Edward Case, served a delectable repast to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Everett Burton, Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Reed Allen, Misses Laura Weaver, Vergie Lee Smith, Gladys Case and Little Elizabeth Ashlin; Messrs. Leslie Crawford, George Case, Paul Crawford, Dan Crawford and the host, Mr. Orla Case.

Mrs. W. M. Torgas of Fourth street, who fell three weeks ago and sprained both ankles and one of her knees, continues bedfast.

GRAND MEDICINE FOR THE STOMACH SAYS MRS. GEORGE

JACKSONVILLE, O., Nov. 25.—The following message from Mrs. John George is published for the guidance and relief of all whose stomachs are making life miserable.

"For years I was troubled with gas on my stomach and bloating. Every time I ate I was sore on my stomach and caused misery and pain. After eating I would take cramps and suffer great pain. I have taken a lot of medicines and it did me no good. I tried Dr. Parker's Treatment for Indigestion and Constipation and was relieved at once. I think it a grand medicine for the stomach."

Dr. Parker's Treatment is guaranteed. Money back if not satisfied. Sold by Wagoner Bros., Fisher & Strobel, Miller's Drug Store, Kyles, Bushman's, Flood & Blake, Friend's, Jones, Trevelyan's, and all druggists.

Don't Be Bald

How To Make Hair Grow Strong, Thick and Lustrous.

Few of us get bald in a day and we are sure simple washing when our hair is thinning out.

Thinning hair is a most efficient hair restorer, but to obtain any further growth of hair and promote a new growth it must be rubbed into the scalp so the starved hair roots can really absorb it. You will surely be convinced with the first application for your hair and scalp should look and feel 100 per cent better. Parton's hair oil is not expensive. It is a scientific preparation that supplies the blood, cleans, soothes, and restores the hair to its natural growth. It is a grand drug store everywhere. It is a grand drug store everywhere. MEN PLAN FOR A BIG MASS MEETING

e band it was decided to have the Fifth Christian delegation and the band parade over several streets in order to have the delegations from other schools fall in line and march to the Second church. The plans for the parade were to be worked out later. The greater part of the evening was taken up with part of the evening was taken up with the discussion of a program for the business meeting. There will be nine two five minute talks, a short discussion of the next Sunday's lesson on calisthenics, and two minute talks during the evening short meeting periods.

tion. John Williams reported for J. T. Pearce of Trinity, saying they would have a representative on hand by the middle of next month. John McMillan, having been chosen as their representative, John Williams of the First Christian church, reported that the Christian church would come with over 100, including a Lord Representative from the other schools reported also. Low many they would have present at the number they would want to 50 or 60 that night. With the mention of it

It was also decided to have the reception committee composed of the Board of Directors, the officers and teachers of the various classes. The program will start at 7:30 o'clock and will last an hour. Arrangements for the music were left in the hands of Adam Burkel and the work of securing the speakers was left with Mr. H. H. Harlan. Another board meeting will be held next Monday evening from 7 o'clock to 8 o'clock.

Four colored churches will have union services Thanksgiving morning at Allen Chapel, the service to start at 11 o'clock. The churches taking part will be Allen Chapel, Pleasant Green Baptist, Finley St. M. E. and Beniah Baptist.

CLUETT PEABODY & CO. INC. TROY N.Y.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.—Investigation of the current tax returns of both the coal mine operators and miners was advanced today in an open telegram from the operators. Former Secretary McAdoo, replying to his recent message regarding the operators' income tax returns for 1917, stated excessive profits. Conditions in 1917 were "abnormal," he was said, but it asserted Mr. McAdoo's ignorance of conditions in 1918-1919, adding that his message presented conditions "entirely new" and requires no answer.

The telegram said Mr. McAdoo's "misleading statements and insinuations are the kind of snail which slows down progress."

"Whatever your purpose," it said, "it is exceedingly bad taste for a former member of the cabinet to present administration, to inject itself into the present time situation in a manner which can only cause a handicap to the efforts of the element who are now bending every effort to work out a solution of the wage controversy."

The telegram was signed:

"Miners' Operators."

TO HIM THAT KNOWETH

UNCLE Dave Rakin, the biggest and best farmer in the world, has been dead for sometime now and the biggest farm in the world is being divided in to patches.

"Uncle Dave" was well past eighty when he died, and he didn't become the owner of the biggest farm in the world because he was born with a silver spoon in his mouth for a start, but because he had the grit to start himself. At eleven he was doing a man's part in supporting the family and long before he was out of his teens he saved his father from being sold out, by a sheriff promising to pay an $8 debt for him. At 21 he married and was so poor after he gave the preacher $5, he hadn't a solitary cent left and he and his wife started housekeeping without a solitary cooking utensil, other than a pan and two knives, forks they hadn't much use for in those primitive days.

It was always his idea to raise corn and cattle so he bought 160 acres of the best land in Illinois for $30 and started. Later on he saw better opportunity in Missouri and moved over there to Tarkio, in the heart of the corn belt.

When he died, he owned 23,000 acres, every foot of which would grow corn. His was therefore not the biggest farm in acreage, but the biggest cultivated by one man. He would neither rent, nor have tenants, every soul working on his place, and there were about a thousand, was hired and paid by him and he oversaw everything and gave all orders. At times he had eighteen thousand acres in corn, but he never sold a bushel, neither did he gather an ear of it. All was consumed in the field by cattle sometimes numbering twelve thousand hogs sometime numbering twenty-five thousand. After leaving Illinois he never sold an acre, he always bought more. If he made $5,000, $10,000, $20,000 a year, it simply meant more land to that cost, generally more as for the greater part of sixty years he was in debt, always for more land. His practice and belief was own only land that can be cultivated and good land is going up, proven in that some he paid ten dollars for is now unapproachable on an offer of three thousand.

His theories of farming were few and simple:

Farming is the best pursuit in the world.

Any man can get rich at it, if he farms right.

Plow deep and harrow the field before the corn comes up once, twice if possible.

Rotate the corn with grass, if rich ground rotate only for period of years.

Don't sell a single grain of corn, nor gather it; feed it to cattle and hogs.

Buy the best labor saving machinery possible. It pays either the big or little farmer, if he takes care of it and doesn't use it after it is worn out.

He had no education himself, never having gone to school but for a few months. Still he believed education was the most excellent thing anyone could have and especially valuable to the farmer. His belief was a deep grounded and virile conviction, confirmed in his own experience and he proved his sincerity by giving from time to time over $300,000 to Tarkio college, which adjoined his farm and where many Missouri farm boys are educated.

UNSIGNED LETTERS

UNTOLD harp may come from unsigned communications, and for that reason newspapers dislike to publish them.

It is not desired to publish the writer's name always, unless there is no objection, but editor's wish to know the name of the writer, so that they will feel assured that the article is written in good faith. Take as a mild instance the recent case of the comments upon the Wellston-Portsmouth football game signed "Fair Play." The writer, in sending in his communication, signed her name for the information of the editor and the article was cheerfully published. All at once comment seemed to center upon a football player named Montgomery as the writer. In one case, wherein comment was about to be made by High School football players, the editor of The Times was enabled to set Mr. Montgomery right, but it was impossible to reach all of the people who had figured him out as the writer. Fortunately the matter came to the attention of Mrs. J. S. Kennedy, who had written the card, and she did not hesitate to make known that she was the author of the defense of Wellston High. It was a brave defense too, and nothing to be ashamed of, but circumstances made it a little embarrassing for Mr. Montgomery.

We are at a loss to understand why people should hesitate to sign their names to articles. People always like to read other people's opinions, and they respect the writer, whether or not they agree with the sentiments expressed. As for ourselves we have no hesitancy in printing any honest expression of sentiment. We never stop to think as to whether or not it agrees with our own opinions.

CHILICOTHE STREET PARKING

THE suggestion is frequently made that an ordinance should be passed forbidding the parking of cars, during business hours, on Chillicothe street, between Third street and Sixth street. The idea appears to be a good one, although it would work out at little inconvenience until people got used to it, and there would, at first have to be considerable forbearance shown by the traffic officer in charge of the district. In some cities cars are allowed on principal streets only for a limited time, say ten or fifteen minutes. It would obviously be an injustice to compel a car to park on a side street, if the driver only wanted to make a five minute call at some store, and a ten or fifteen minute limit would take care of this.

It is obvious to any person who observes Chillicothe street during business hours that some such arrangement should be made. Cars are parked for hours at a time along the street and only a narrow lane is left for drivers. It is impossible to pass a street car unless a gap can be found in the line of parked cars. Danger to life and limb is also aggravated, as many people will insist on crossing at other points than regular crossings, and they dart out between cars, regardless of the possibility of being hit and injured by passing cars.

This matter should receive the early and thoughtful attention of council and enforcing officers.

SENATOR HARDING

SENATOR Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, deserves better treatment, in so far as his presidential aspirations are concerned, than is being accorded him by some of the leaders of his party, who seem bent on forcing him to show his hand long before conditions call for a declaration. The fact that the move is being engineered by a clique headed by Walter Brown, of Toledo, rather adds to the suspicion that the thought uppermost is to hamstring the senator as a presidential candidate, and to destroy whatever chances he might have for securing the Republican nomination next year. All of his life Senator Harding has been a consistent advocate of republican principles and his loyalty to party doctrine has never wavered. He has been signally honored by his party, and from a party standpoint, he has proven faithful to his trust. While many may disagree with his views, all admit that he has developed into one of the big figures in the United States senate and of the nation. He is a clean, capable statesman, and he seems to be the one Ohio Republican who can come within gunshot of the nomination.

Should the Senator decide to go after the presidential nomination, he is surely entitled to a fair deal at the hands of Ohio Republican leaders. He should not be stashed in the back before the campaign for delegates opens. When the lists are made up, all republicans have the right to express their preferences at the primaries. Until then the bushwacking of the distinguished senator from Ohio should be discouraged, if it cannot be stopped.

SHE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

It made me so mad to have Jim's mother attribute my crying fit to nervousness caused by my work.

She loved the trip down Fifth avenue and raved over Washington square as we rolled through it on the way to Adams's studio apartment.

The place looked no more as a Quaker boarding school. The air was pungent of electric smoke. Chaste violins in a copper bowl were on the table and the tea things were plain white and gold.

Athena, in her gray gown, played the conservative grande dame so discreet that she won Jim's mother, head, heart and hand, in ten minutes.

"Run and have a look at the sewing room there," she murmured. Mrs. Selwyn said I went to compare notes on women's sphere in the home—and I was such a rank little snuffbox, you know."

A gentle clicking came from the sewing room. I pushed the door open to find a woman sitting before the machine tapping off a robe.

The room was completely transformed. I had a miniature office. Files of paper on a round mission table a row of books, pens, ink and blotting notes on a side table, two chairs—and in the center a typewriter, with Eric Selwyn sitting before the machine tapping off a robe.

"Don't you, Madame Lippereuse?" he said, leaning back and laughing at my speechlessness. "Remember, your secretary, Mrs. Thelma Lippereuse, is my friend, Editor Lippereuse, of the 'Morning Post'."

I got through my lunch of "Mrs. Selwyn's correspondence with maternal friend and took mother to the kitchen some time before I was present. This was a rare day, that pleased her highly.

I decided to commit the extraordinary case of a taxi, which neither Selwyn nor I changed, though she pretended to.

PROF. WHIPPLE

Prof. George C. Whipple of Harvard University has been appointed director of the division of sanitation in the League of Red Cross Societies. The new bureau, created at the recent international conference of Red Cross representatives at Geneva, is designed to become a kind of international conference of Red Cross representatives at Geneva, is designed to become a kind of international health department. It will serve as a general clearing house for the exchange of information on public health activities in all parts of the world.

Dr. Whipple, who is secretary of the Harvard School of Public Health and professor of sanitary engineering, will continue at his present duties at Harvard until February. He is an international authority on water supply, and is the author of numerous books on this and related subjects. His work has carried him to many parts of the United States. As deputy commissioner of the American Red Cross Mission to Serbia, he studied the sanitary needs of that country at close range.

Associated with Dr. Whipple in the new international health office will be Col. F. F. Longley, U. S. A., a graduate of West Point. He served during the war in Europe as colonel of the 20th Engineers, the water supply regiment of the American Expeditionary Forces. His work in this capacity won him the Distinguished Service Medal.

INDUSTRY HAS A TOUGH TIME TO REACH HIS GOAL!

New - York - Day - By - Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Fokine is here—which to the average mind may mean a new sign, tooth powder or collar. But to those super artists who do interpretive dancing, Fokine's name strikes them dead with admiration.

He has come to direct the dances in the spectacular production of "Aphrodite" at the Century Theatre, which opens shortly. Incidentally, according to some reports I hear the production of the rival of Venus—I believe Aphrodite—is going to bring a lot of bald-headed legs to the front row with field glasses.

In the original Parisian production, Aphrodite appeared in the nude—but that is old stuff there and even in America I hear that a yard of cheese cloth and a half dozen pie pans clothes the whole cast. What a harvest it would be for the late Anthony Comstock and his vice staff!

But it is such men as Fokine who take the bawdiest things and lift them into the artistic realm. And his first name is Mike. He is short and bald, about thirty-five, with a little black mustache and a chalky white skin. His eyebrows look shaven.

He appears like the dapper dress designer one sees on Fifth avenue. He first gained fame by designing dresses for Parvna and then he directed the Imperial Opera House in Petrograd before whatever it was happened to the czar.

It is quite remarkable how these high-brow dancers regard their work so seriously. I have talked to nearly all of them from Merkin, Parvna and Duncan on down to the low ones. They consider dancing the greatest of arts and a plastic pose means as much to them as a well turned phrase means to the novelist. And with it all they are quite human and likable. And they smoke excellent Russian cigarettes.

The new type of moonshine was key that is procurable in almost every bar in New York has a grand little job, so the newspapers report. It is too good and one shot of it makes the most serious minded talkative talk to a bronze lion. Not only that it is said to be impairing the vision of those who indulge. Believe me, many other hospitals are reporting numerous cases of men coming with blurred vision for treatment. They noticed it shortly after taking a drink of the new whiskey.

The other day some souls were first outside the building in which I live. When I arrived on the scene two white faced young men looked up in rich shirts and sparkling diamonds, were mannaed by two early police men. Nearly was a half-wrecked automobile which they had stolen and deserted when the trail got hot. They were experienced crooks and had records but just the same I could never be a policeman. I wanted to see them escape. They looked so stricken and pathetic. However, I might have felt differently had it been my automobile. I wonder.

A poet-a dreamer and weaver of fables has been getting a lot of publicity lately by declaring himself to be the loneliest man in New York. He lives in the Bronx, which would make him lonely, and frequents several Avenue cafes, which are depressed.

His plaintive monomania is a testimony to the lady who has spent most of her days in Egypt. She often sings Arab songs to the poet but even that does not stir him out of his great state of loneliness. Perhaps he should go to Egypt. That is a pretty good cure for loneliness.

In commenting on the State Illinois game one of the reviewers says:

The best chance that Ohio State ever had to earn the honors of the Western Conference was lost on Saturday when Illinois scored a field goal in the last few seconds of play and defeated Ohio's team by a score of 9 to 7. Up to that game Ohio had been undefeated and had won from Michigan, Wisconsin and Purdue, the only three Conference teams Harley's men had played. Illinois had played seven Conference games and had lost only one, having been defeated by Wisconsin early in the season.

A victory for Ohio would have given the state undisputed title to the Western championship and closed Captain Harley's wonderful career in a blaze of glory. It was a severe blow to the Ohio team and its backers to have victory snatched away at the very last moment of play but there is no question that the better team won, and Harley and his men were fair enough to admit it after the game.

The Ohio-Illinois game illustrated very clearly the uncertainty and yet the extreme power of the aerial attack, for Illinois won largely by the care and accuracy with which its forward passes were executed, while Ohio scored its only point on a beautiful pass but missed a dozen other chances through the failure of this form of advancing the ball.

In Saturday's game the forward pass was constantly used by both teams and the result showed on Illinois' superiority in this department. Perhaps never in the history of football has this play proved so dependable as it was for Illinois in the final quarter of the contest.

Varga And Freed Will Go To The Mat Tonight

When Jack Freed, the "Headlock King," steps on the mat tonight for his match with Joe Varga, fans will see a different style of wrestling to what we have had. Freed has developed a couple of new headlocks that have been very successful when tried out on some real good men that have met him in his home town and he expects that they will win for him here according to the dope handed out by some of the country and with a two hour draw for the night. Every player should be on the mat for this practice as Ironton will have a line up hard to beat.

N. & W. WARRIORS GETTING IN SHAPE FOR REAL ENGAGEMENT AT IRONTON

Tonight and tomorrow night the N. & W. football eleven will be put through stiff practices to get into shape for the Thanksgiving day game with Ironton. The first Wednesday night practice will be held tomorrow night and the second on Friday night. Every player should be on the mat for this practice as Ironton will have a line up hard to beat.

Davies Sure To Play Against N. & W. Eleven

The Ironton Register this morning it said: "We had seen fit to send Davies in the place of the injured player, who went the last six games of the contest, and made three splendid runs." It is said that Davies in the last game, when he was injured, caused Ironton to lose the game, but they are all wondering why a man like Taylor, who started at half, should be given the preference over Davies. "Shorty" will break into the ranks of an amateur team Thanksgiving, playing just for the pleasure of getting into a real game and he should draw a tremendous crowd to the park for the contest against the N. & W. team from Portsmouth.

Nov. 26—Keystones vs. Flintknives.

Nov. 28—Hornets vs. Dawsons.

The Wingfoots, captained by Edward Leach, kept themselves in the hunt for first place honors in the Play House Duck Pin League by taking two out of three from the Slickers last night. The games rolled over far below par, the Slickers showing up with two blinks at the get-away. Captain Leach of the Slickers, who is looked upon as one of the king pin bowlers of the city, experienced one of the poorest nights and his support went all to the bad. The Wingfoots sort of nudged the Slickers in the opening game, when James Keller, got the range and shot for 140, the high mark of the evening. Captain Leach contributed his mite by bowling 118, although that is far below his usual stride but a favorite mark last night with him, for his third game was of that exact number. Defeat was not for the second and third game with the Slickers and did nicely. Had he been in the opening game there might have been a different story to narrate. The scores follow:

SPORT SALAD

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Premier honors in the 1919 gridiron championship of the "Big Ten," today is held by the players from the University of Illinois.

Triumphant over Ohio State yesterday in a spectacular 9-0-7 game, the scrappy Illinois squad finished the season with a percentage of .877. It won six of its seven contests. Ohio earned second place, with a percentage of .750 and a count of three games won and one lost.

Purdue, Michigan and Wisconsin (all before the Buckeyes, while Illinois emerged victorious in its games with Purdue, Iowa, Minnesota, Chicago, Michigan and Ohio. Wisconsin was the only team to defeat the Illinois.

Chicago, although beaten by Wisconsin Saturday, finished in third place with a percentage of .667—four games won and two lost. Wisconsin and Minnesota tied for fourth position, their percentage being .600, with three games won and two lost.

Starting upsets and the tremendous interest in the games made the season remarkable. Many of the games drew between 20,000 and 25,000 persons. The gate receipts at the games yesterday between Chicago and Wisconsin were about $10,000.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 25.—The University of Cincinnati today begins the finishing touches of her careful preparation for the big Miami game Thursday morning at Carson Field. The big red team comes with a record of one defeat in four years, that one coming from Oberlin this fall, while Cincinnati toss the mark with a season record of three wins, three losses, and one draw.

Miami will enter the contest a strong 3-to-2 favorite, mostly on the strength of the Denison games played by each school. Miami won by two touchdowns from Denison, while Cincinnati was topped by the Granite eleven 9 to 2.

PITTSBURGH, PENN., Nov. 27.—The University of Pittsburgh brings its football season to a close on Thanksgiving Day, when the annual game with the Pennsylvania State College team will be played at Forbes Field.

This is a fitting finale to a great season, for there is intense, though always friendly, rivalry between these two great Keystone State teams, and fandom hereabouts is looking forward to a splendid contest.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 25.—"There will be no increases in prices at the Cincinnati Ball Park next summer," remarked President August Hermann last night, after reading a report from New York that it would cost more to see a ball game next year than it did during last season. "The Cincinnati Club has not contemplated an advance in prices and will not do so. We are well satisfied with the receipts as they are."

Detroit is getting to be some fight town. There will be three rattling good scraps in that city tonight and no doubt all will be well patronized.

Homer Smith will meet Frank Moran, Bob Martin will mix it up with Tom Rife and Jack Burke will meet Jack Moran.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., Nov. 25.—Because Michigan University was virtually annihilated on the football field this season, a movement has been started to get rid of "Hurry Up" Yell, the famous university cough.

WALLACE REID IN "YOU'RE FIRED"

ALSO "ELMO, THE MIGHTY"

A skin soft, clear, delicate in coloring

*No other beauty
speaks so instantly*

A LITTLE flash of envy, yes—but just a swirl, just as instantly, every one of us has felt the attraction that a lovely complexion always exerts.

And, if your complexion is dull and lifeless—without charm—how little all other attractions count! If you are bothered with blackheads, if your skin is marred by little blemishes, even if the pores have become enlarged, how completely your appearance is spoiled.

When other girls have lovely skins, how hard it seems for you not to have this greatest of all charms—a skin that is clear and dazzling.

Do you know that there is nothing that so responds to the proper treatment as your skin? That if you commence this very day to give your skin the right treatment for its needs, you will begin in a few days to notice its improvement?

Your skin is the most changeable feature you have. No matter how much you may neglect it, every day it is being made over, even without your help. New skin is continually forming as old skin dies. It is this new skin that responds so quickly to the proper treatment. You can keep it free of the blemishes that marred the old skin. Its freshness need never again be spoiled by neglect.

Blackheads can be corrected. Conspicuous nose pores can be reduced. Pale, sallow skin can be stimulated to have lovely color.

For every kind of complexion trouble you can find out first the cause of the condition, then the remedy, based on the fundamental rules of skin hygiene.

The cause of oily skin and shiny nose

Take one of the most common of skin troubles—an oily skin and a nose that will get shiny. Do you know what causes this condition?

A certain amount of oil in your skin is necessary to keep it smooth and supple. The oil is constantly being produced by the glands of the skin. When it is too abundant the result is an oily skin and a shiny nose. You can relieve this embarrassing condition by using the following treatment for it as frequently as is necessary:—

With warm water work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap in your hands. Apply it to your face and rub it into the pores thoroughly—always with an upward and outward motion. Rinse with warm water, then with cold—the colder the better. If possible, rub your face for thirty seconds with a piece of ice.

Use this treatment as often as your skin requires it, rightly if necessary. The first time you try it, it will make your skin firmer and drier. Before long, you will notice a marked improvement.

Why blackheads form

Think how constantly your face is exposed to dust and dirt. Unless the skin is thoroughly cleansed, tiny particles of foreign matter clog the pores and blackheads are the result.

Blackheads are a confession that you are using the wrong method of cleansing for your type of skin. By following the Woodbury treatment, you can keep your skin free from them.

Apply hot, wet cloths to the face until the skin is reddened. Then with a rough washcloth, work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and rub it into the pores thoroughly—always with an upward and outward motion. Rinse with clear, hot water, then with cold. Dry the skin carefully.

Make this a daily habit and you will soon notice a marked improvement in the clearness of your skin.

To remove blackheads already formed, substitute a fish brush for the washcloth in the treatment above. Then protect the fingers with a handkerchief and press out the blackheads.

The new steam treatment for pale, sallow skins

Then, a pale sallow skin. Do you despair of ever rousing yours? Try the new steam treatment. See how just one treatment brings the color to your cheeks.

Steam penetrates the skin in a way water alone cannot do. It enables you to cleanse thoroughly the pores that have become clogged, to stimulate inactive blood vessels and give the skin new color.

To make your skin soft and colorful, one night a week fill your bowl full of hot water—almost boiling hot. Bend over the top of the bowl and cover your head and the bowl with a heavy bath towel, so that no steam can escape. Steam your face for thirty seconds.

Now lather a hot cloth with Woodbury's Facial Soap. With this wash your face thoroughly, rubbing the lather well into the skin in an upward and outward motion. Then rinse the skin well, first with warm water, then with cold, and finish by rubbing it for thirty seconds with a piece of ice.

The other nights of the week, cleanse your face thoroughly in the Woodbury way with Woodbury's Facial Soap and warm water, finishing with cold.

These are only three of the famous Woodbury treatments for the commonest skin troubles. Get the famous booklet of treatments and see for yourself how thoroughly the needs of the different types of skin have been studied. As you read the different treatments, you will feel that they must help your skin.

The whole success depends on yourself

But the whole success of any Woodbury treatment depends on the regularity and persistence with which you keep it up. Remember that you cannot completely correct in a day or a week the results of years of neglect.

But you will notice in a few days the good a Woodbury treatment does your skin. The very first treatment will leave your skin with a tightly drawn tight feeling. This only means that your skin is responding to a more thorough and stimulating kind of cleansing than it has been accustomed to. After a few nights this drawn feeling will disappear, and your skin will emerge from its nightly treatment with such a soft, clean, healthful feeling that you will never again want to use any other method of cleansing your face.

You will find Woodbury's Facial Soap on sale at any drug store or toilet goods counter in the United States or Canada. The booklet containing the directions for the famous Woodbury treatments is wrapped around each cake.

Get a cake today and begin using it tonight. A 25 cent cake lasts a month or six weeks.

Would you like to have a trial size cake?

You may have it either with the booklet of treatments, or with samples of the other Woodbury facial preparations in addition to the booklet.

For 6 cents we will send you a trial size cake enough for a week of any Woodbury facial treatment together with the booklet of treatments. Or for 15 cents we will send you the treatment booklet and samples of Woodbury's Facial Soap, Facial Powder, Facial Cream and Cold Cream. War Near Along Adriatic

JUGO-SLAVS THREATEN TO PLUNGE INTO STRIFE WITH ITALIANS

GENEVA, Monday, Nov. 24.—Telegrams received by the Serbian bureau at Rome from Belgrade, Zaria and Spalato convey the impression that only prompt interference by the allies can prevent war over the Adriatic situation as the Jugo-Slavs are said to have lost patience and to be ready to fight the Italians.

"We are astonished that the peace conference permits our people to endure constant Italian persecutions," says one Belgrade paper, received here. "Our peaceful attitude is precisely what we might throw at them and his ministers into the sea."

Another newspaper accuses Italy of desiring to blockade Jugo-Slavia's exports and imports and thus "strangle" her.

A third repeats recent reports that a reign of terror prevails in Zaria, that everybody must wear a brass card inscribed "Italy or Death", or be badly treated and the Slavs are afraid to leave their houses.

PARIS, Monday, Nov. 24.—163 cables confirming reports from Geneva that the situation along the eastern shore of the Adriatic is critical are issued by the Jugo-Slav bureau here. The bureau says the Jugo-Slav government has asked its ministers at Paris, London and Washington to draw the attention of those governments to the dangerous situation arising from the "unbearable" and "threatening" situation about Trieste.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Of the 2,200,000 in the United States, 1,200,000 have returned to their former homes, according to a report issued by the American Red Cross in Paris. It is expected a return of the remainder within a few months.

AMERICAN INTERVIEWS ITALIANS

ROME, Monday, Nov. 24.—Peter A. Jay, American charge d'affaires, had a long interview with Premier Nitti today. Neither the premier nor the American embassy should make any statement relative to the subjects discussed, but it was indicated that Mr. Jay received a favorable impression from the outline Premier Nitti gave of the Italian situation. After his talk with Mr. Jay, the premier had an hour's audience with King Victor Emmanuel.

The election has proved to be a safe bet for the discontent and political excitement and it now appears obvious that the Italian nation is upheaved. Socialists, who at first were so overcome with joy over the victory that they were uncertain what to do, in order to utilize in the best way their numerical strength in the new chamber are listening to the advice of more moderate members of their party. It seems these older statesmen will succeed in moderating the situation so that no serious trouble may occur.

Anti-Trial Strike By Radicals

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—An anti-trial "strike" called by 66 alleged radical aliens awaiting deportation hearings at Ellis Island still was in force this morning, according to officials of the prison, and it was impossible to predict when the trials could be resumed. Byron H. Uhl, acting commissioner of Immigration said he had discovered no method whereby he could identify the prisoners scheduled for hearing.

While a congressional committee investigating the department of labor was attending the hearings yesterday, sudden adjournment was taken when one of the keepers, sent to bring a prisoner from the enclosure, returned with the statement that the man would not answer his name and no one could identify him. The attorney representing the defendants was appealed to, but said he could be of no aid as he did not know his clients "by their faces."

The strikers sent Mr. Uhl an ultimatum saying that they would not answer to their names or attend trial until a wire screen behind which they were compelled to stand while receiving friends had been removed.

MAINTENANCE OF WAY MEN AND SHOP LABORERS SIGN NEW WORKING AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—A new wage and working agreement was signed today between the railroad maintenance of way men and shop laborers and officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Maintenance of Way Employees and Shop Laborers. While demands of the union were not fully met, the eight-hour basic day was established for track laborers and others of that classification, and time and a half pay after that hour was provided.

Most of the other employees included under the agreement will receive time and a half overtime pay after ten hours.

Ends Long Controversy
Signing of the new contract by Director General Hines ended negotiations which have been in progress since February. Approximately 400,000 men are affected, railroad administration officials estimated. The contract also provides that it shall be up-

TOLEDO STILL WALKS OR RIDES IN COLD BUSES

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 25.—Toledo today started its seventeenth day of walking or riding in unheated buses at 10 cents a ride. Its street cars are parked among the huts of Lake Erie and there is nothing to indicate when they will return. Henry L. Doherty, New York traction magnate, ordered them hauled out of the state of Ohio at midnight November 8, four days after the voters had approved an ordinance passed several months previously by city council and put on the ballot in the form of a referendum.

Mayor Cornelius Schröder is pleading with United States district court to force the immediate return of vehicles, but Mr. Doherty said he will go to the highest court in the land before adding by any such order.

The district court hearing is set for tomorrow morning. When Mayor Schröder will argue that the company violated a state public utilities law by not notifying the commission of its intention of withdrawal. Traction officials will contend they had no rights on the streets after the order had been approved.

MUTILATED BY NEGRO WITH A HEAVY HAMMER

HAMILTON, O., Nov. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Agnew and three children are in Mercy Hospital, severely mutilated as the result, Agnew claims, of an unprovoked assault by a negro with a heavy hammer who entered the family home late Monday night. Agnew, physicians say, will probably lose an eye, the wife was unconscious when found, a little daughter's finger was amputated and two sons are less severely hurt. Three small tots of the family were taken to the children's home. Burglary was not attempted and the police are mystified over the attack. Agnew says took place.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Copper shares were the only note worthy exceptions to the further advance of prices at the opening of today's stock market. The usual motive, oil, steel, equipment, food and shipping issues were in moderate demand at gains of 1 to 3 points. Miscellaneous stocks and unclassified specialties also moved with the popular industries but here because of a general strike, rails gave no sign of shaking off their recent apathy. Early gains were maintained within the first half hour under lead of General Motors and Drexel Arrow.

DEFLECTIONS AMONG STEEL STRIKERS FEW, SAYS LEADER

PITTSBURGH, PA., Nov. 25.—The strike is settled by the granting of deflections among steel strikers of the human American standards of hours, wages and working conditions. Allegations of union leaders that they were "incompetent men" said negro labor was being used in mills to John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the national steel strike committee. In a statement made public here today.

"Steel mills are disorganized, crippled and unable to produce better than 10 to 20 percent of normal," said Mr. Fitzpatrick.

He added that the national committee was prepared to continue the fight with renewed courage until the Federation of Labor.

PRESIDENT MAY BE ASKED FOR SOLUTION

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Closing of additional manufacturing plants in the midwest, with others placed on a further curtailed ration and loss of production even in the mines, which have been worked since the strike of bituminous coal miners went into effect more than three weeks ago, were in prospect today. A ray of hope, the first tangible one to penetrate the gloom of the steadily growing menace of a coal shortage since the miners walked out, entered the situation, however, with consideration of the entire strike question by President Wilson's cabinet, with the reference to the chief executive of the whole difficulty.

From none of the great production fields came an indication today that the miners had altered their disposition to await an agreement by the operators-miners conference at Washington.

In Wyoming and Oklahoma, there was a prospect of production being resumed and in West Virginia, where the greatest quantity of fuel has been brought out since the strike started, state troops were ready to curb radicals who threatened to shoot miners returning to work, and it was expected that the 10 percent loss production reported yesterday would soon be regained.

The Wyoming miners were to return today, after a one day strike, and in Oklahoma Governor Robertson predicted mining operations would be started again on the state prison farm either today or tomorrow.

Indiana factories and public utilities were operated on a greatly reduced basis, steps to conserve the short coal supply being more drastic than in the Chicago district, where many plants have closed.

A wave of crime that followed cutting off of street illumination in Chicago caused reversion of that order. Enough fuel for 25 days, it was estimated. In the Pittsburgh district, also, distribution of coal was on a limited basis.

An alleged shortage at the mines in West Virginia and Kentucky of a sufficient number of cars to remove the fuel being brought out there, or shipped could be solved, said by E. H. Jewett and other operators to be handling the efforts to supply the rest of the country.

TO HIM THAT KNOWETH

UNCLE Dave Rakin, the biggest and best farmer in the world, has been dead for some time now and the biggest farm in the world is being divided up to pieces. "Uncle Dave" was well past eighty when he died, and he didn't become the owner of the biggest farm in the world because he was born with a silver spoon in his mouth for a silver bar. He had the gift to start himself. At eleven he was doing a man's part in supporting the family and long before he was out of his teens he saved his father from being sold out by a sheriff by promising to pay an $8 debt for him. At 21 he married and was so poor after he gave the preacher $5, he had to go to a solitary cell and he and his wife started housekeeping without a solitary cooking utensil, other than a pan and two knives. Forks they had to make out of those primitive days.

It was always his idea to raise corn and cattle so he bought 100 acres of the best land in Illinois for $80 and started. Later on he saw better opportunity in Missouri and moved over there to Kansas, in the heart of the corn belt.

When he died, he owned 22,000 acres, every foot of which would grow corn. His was therefore not the biggest farm in acreage, but the biggest cultivated by one man. He would neither rent nor have tenants, every soul working on his place, and there were about a thousand, was hired and paid by him and he oversaw everything and gave all orders. At times he had eighteen thousand acres in corn, but he never sold a bushel, neither did he gather in ear of it. All was consumed in the field by cattle sometimes numbering twelve thousand hogs sometimes numbering twenty-five thousand. After leaving Illinois he never sold an acre, he always bought more. If he made $5,000, $10,000, $20,000 a year, it simply meant more land to that cost, generally more as for the greater part of sixty years he was in debt, always for more land. His practice and belief was own only land that can be cultivated and good land is going up, proven in that some he paid ten dollars for is now unapproachable on an offer of three thousand.

His theories of farming were few and simple:

Farming is the best pursuit in the world.
Any man can get rich at it, if he farms right.
Plow deep and harrow the field before the corn comes up once, twice if possible.
Rotate the corn with grass, if rich ground rotate only for period of years.
Don't sell a single grain of corn, nor gather it; feed it to cattle and hogs.
Buy the best labor saving machinery possible. It pays either the big or little farmer, if he takes care of it and doesn't use it after it is worn out.
He had no education himself, never having gone to school for a few months. Still he believed education was the most excellent thing anyone could have and especially valuable to the farmer. His belief was a deep grounded and virile conviction, confirmed in his own experience and he proved his sincerity by giving from time to time over $300,000 to Tarkio college, which adjoined his farm and where many Missouri farm boys are educated.

UNSIGNED LETTERS

UNTOLD here may come from unsigned communications, and for that reason newspapers dislike to publish them. It is not desired to publish the writer's name always, unless there is no objection, but editor's wish to know the name of the writer, so that they will feel assured that the article is written in good faith. Take as a mild instance the recent case of the comments from the Weston-Portsmouth football game signed "Fair Play." The writer in sending in her communication, signed her name for the information of the editor and the article was cheerfully published. All at once comment seemed to center upon a football player named Montgomery as the writer. In one case, wherein comment was about to be made by High School football players, the editor of the Times was grieved to see Mr. Montgomery right, but it was impossible to reach all of the people who had figured him out as the writer. Fortunately the matter came to the attention of Mrs. J.S. Kennedy, who had written the card, and she did not hesitate to make known that she was the author of the defense of Weston High. It was a brave defense too, and nothing to be ashamed of, but circumstances made it a little embarrassing for Mr. Montgomery.

We are at a loss to understand why people should hesitate to sign their names to articles. People always like to read other people's opinions, and they respect the writer, whether or not they agree with the sentiments expressed. As for ourselves we have no hesitancy in printing any honest expression of sentiment. We never stop to think as to whether or not it agrees with our own opinions.

CHILLICOTHE STREET PARKING

THE suggestion is frequently made that an ordinance should be passed forbidding the parking of cars during business hours, on Chillicothe street, between Third street and Sixth street. The idea appears to be a good one, although it would work out at little inconvenience until people got used to it, and there would, at first have to be considerable forbearance shown by the traffic officer in charge of the district. In some cities cars are allowed on principal streets only for a limited time, say ten or fifteen minutes. It would obviously be an injustice to compel a car to park on a side street, if the driver only wanted to make a five minute call at some store, and a ten or fifteen minute limit would take care of this.

It is objected to any person who observes Chillicothe street during business hours that some such arrangement should be made. Cars are parked for hours at a time along the street and only a narrow lane is left for drivers. It is impossible to pass a street car unless a gap can be found in the line of parked cars. Danger to life and limb is also aggravated, as many people will insist on crossing at other points than regular crossings, and they dart out between cars, regardless of the possibility of being hit and injured by passing cars.

This matter should receive the early and thoughtful attention of council and enforcing officers.

SENATOR HARDING

SENATOR Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, deserves better treatment, in so far as his presidential aspirations are concerned, than is being accorded him by some of the leaders of his party, who seem bent on forcing him to show his hand long before conditions call for a declaration. The fact that the move is being engineered by a clique headed by Walter Brown, of Toledo, rather adds to the suspicion that the thought uppermost is to hamstring the senator as a presidential candidate, and to destroy whatever chances he might have for securing the Republican nomination next year. All of his life Senator Harding has been a consistent advocate of republican principles and his loyalty to party doctrine has never wavered. He has been singularly honored by his party, and from a party standpoint, he has proven faithful to his trust. While many may disagree with his views, all admit that he has developed into one of the big figures in the United States senate and of the nation. He is a clean, capable statesman, and he seems to be the one Ohio Republican who can come within gunshot of the nomination.

Should the Senator decide to go after the presidential nomination, he is surely entitled to a fair deal at the hands of Ohio Republican leaders. He should not be stabbed in the back before the campaign for delegates opens. When the lists are made up, all republicans have the right to express their preferences at the primaries. Until then the bushwacking of the distinguished senator from Ohio should be discouraged, if it cannot be stopped.

SHE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

It made me so mad to have Jim think it indecently swift and mean, another attribute my crying fit to him. She loved the trip down Fifth street, and loved over Washington square as we rolled through it on the way to Albany's studio apartment. The plane looked as demure as a Quaker boarding school. The air was hazy with a cloud of smoke. Choppy waves in a corner had been on the table and the tea things were plain white and gold.

Albany, in her gray gown, played the conservative, graceful dame, so demure that she took Jim's noisier, loud heart and hand in her white gloves. "Run and have a look at the sewing room dear," she murmured. Mrs. Stetson and I went to converse over on women's sphere in the lounge and under such a rank little sufferer, you know.

A gentle clicking came from the sewing room. I pushed the door open and almost lost my equilibrium at what I saw.

"The room was completely transformed into a miniaturized village of play, discourse on make-up, I observed that she took Jim's noisier, loud heart and hand in her white gloves. "Run and have a look at the sewing room dear," she murmured. Mrs. Stetson and I went to converse over on women's sphere in the lounge and under such a rank little sufferer, you know.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

PROF. WHITTLE
Prof. George C. Whittle of Harvard University has been appointed director of the division of sanitation in the League of Red Cross Societies. The new bureau, created at the recent international conference of Red Cross representatives at Geneva, is designed to become a kind of international conference of Red Cross representatives. It is designed to become a kind of international conference of Red Cross representatives. It is designed to become a kind of international conference of Red Cross representatives.

Dr. Whittle, who is secretary of the Harvard School of Public Health and professor of sanitary engineering, will continue at his present duties at Harvard until February. He is an international authority on water supply and is the author of numerous books on this and related subjects. His work has carried him to many parts of the United States. As deputy commissioner of the American Red Cross Mission to Serbia, he studied the sanitary needs of that country at close range.

Associated with Dr. Whittle in the new international health office will be Col. P. H. LeGarde, U. S. A., a graduate of West Point. He served during the war in Europe as colonel of the 30th Engineers, the water supply regiment of the American Expeditionary Forces. His work in this capacity won him the Distinguished Service Medal.

INDUSTRY HAS A TOUGH TIME TO REACH HIS GOAL!

New - York - Day - By - Day

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Fokine is here—which to the average mind may mean a new cheer, tooth-powder or collar. But to those super artists who interpret dancing, Fokine's name strikes them down with admiration.

He has come to direct the degrees in the spectacular production of "Aphrodite" at the Century Theatre which opens shortly. Incidentally according to some reports, Fokine's direction of the revival of "Venus" at the Apollo Theatre is going to bring a lot of bald-headed boys to the front row with fold glasses.

In the original Parisian production Aphrodite appeared in the nude—but that is old stuff there and even in America I hear that a yard of blue cloth and a half dozen pin-up clothes the whole cast. What a harvest it would be for the 1-10 Anthony Camstock and his vice staff!

But it is such men as Fokine who take the taser thunders and lift them into the artistic emphasis. And his first name is Mike. He is short and bald, about thirty-five, with a little black mustache and a chunky white skin. His eyebrows look shaven.

He appears like the dapper dress designer one sees on Fifth Avenue. He first gained fame by originating dances for Pavlova and then he directed the Imperial Opera House in Petrograd before whatever it was happened to the czar.

It is quite remarkable how these highbrow dancers regard their work so seriously. I have talked to nearly all of them from Mozhuk Pavlova and Danes on down to the new ones. They consider dancing the greatest of arts and a plastic pose means as much to them as a well turned phrase means to the novelist. And with it all they are quite human and likable. And they smoke excellent Russian cigarettes.

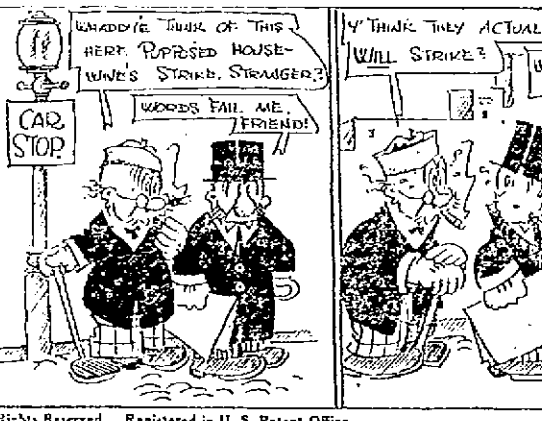

The new type of moonshine whiskey that is procurable in almost every bar in New York has a grand little fall, so the newspapers report. It is not proof and one shot of it makes the most serious minded talk boys talk to a bronze lion. Not only that it is sold to be impairing the vision of those who indulge. Believeme and many other hospitals are reporting innumerable cases of men coming with blurred vision for treatment. They noticed it shortly after taking a drink of the new whiskey.

The other day some shots were fired outside the building in which I live. When I hurried on the scene two white-faced young men topped up in silk shirts and sporting diamonds, were manhandled by two burly policemen. Nearby was a half wrecked automobile which they had stolen and deserted when the trail got hot. They were experienced crooks and had records for just the same. I could never be a policeman. I wanted to see them peep. They looked so stricken and pathetic. However, I might have felt differently had it been my automobile. I wonder.
